The Job:

Running for local office is a great tribute to public service. Councilors provide leadership to the City of Donald. One of the largest duties is reviewing the monthly Council agenda and supplemental information before the official meeting. Then discussing the information and making decisions in a public meeting; some of which are tough decisions. The Council and Mayor work as a team to make good decisions for Donald. The Mayor and Council positions are unpaid.

Please be prepared to meet at least two hours on the second Tuesday of each month, as well as be able to commit time to review your electronic packet prior to the meeting. Additionally, the group usually has a couple of goal setting meetings throughout the year to establish their priorities for short-term and long-term futures. On occasion, there will be a special meeting or executive meeting that will require your attendance. Also, there are various outside leadership opportunities that pop-up for you to participate in, if you are interested.

By signing you acknowledge that you have read the City Council Qualifications and Description of Service and meet the qualifications required to serve on the Donald City Council.
